03/20/13 — BagButton LLC, manufacturer of the NEW innovative BagButton that takes ordinary household plastic bags and turns them into space saving vacuum storage bags, continues to expand its line of storage products.

Responding to demands for storage organizers that are both space reducing, attractive, and functional, BagButton has launched their NEW line of Space Saving Storage Organizers. The BagButton Organizers can hold up to four times more clothing and bedding than conventional storage boxes, trunks and bins, offering versatile options for extra storage in closets, bedrooms, garage and attic.

All the Space Saver BagButton Organizers are a revolutionary new storage system idea that let you combines both vacuum storage bags and Organizer to achieve its effectiveness. The BagButton organizers are built with today's highest quality of materials and closes with metal zippers.

The BagButton enables a household plastic bag to stand upright in your Organizer for easy loading of bulky items like bedding and garments. The packed contents are then compressed into the BagButton space saving organizer by evacuating air through the BagButton. This causes the contents to compress into stackable units that yield up to four times more available storage space. This protects packed items from dirt, water, bugs, mildew, and odors. The BagButton organizer can then be stored in previously unsuitable places like basements, attics, garages, and outdoor sheds, freeing up indoor storage spaces.

Sold separately, these compact organizers come in four convenient shapes and sizes for a variety of storage options – Stackable for closets & shelves, and the Under-bed (low profile design) allowing users to efficiently utilize their under the bed storage space. The suggested retail price ranges from $16.95 for the Large Stackable and Under-bed Organizers to $19.95 for Jumbo sizes, making them cost competitive with plastic bins.

“Our marketplace research has proven that consumers highly value quality canvas type organizers for storage in their home. Therefore, BagButton’s challenge was to develop a higher capacity, stackable vacuum storage bag organizer, which offers to users, the ability to replace multiple storage bins which take up ample room in garages, attics, and basements with a single BagButton organizer,” said Larry Storey, Director of Marketing for BagButton LLC. “We expect strong response to this new category of storage, not only because of our famous economical compressible ‘vacuum out the air’ technology, but also because of its airtight seal to better protect bulky bedding and keep-sakes from bugs, dust, mildew and odors. Plus, the organizer’s attractive design allows users to turn an eye sore closet or garage into a neatly organized home.”

BagButton LLC is the inventor, and manufacturer of the Worlds most economical vacuum sealed storage bag system using household plastic bags for storage organization. With more than 10 million BagButtons sold in the past 8 years, and its continued online advertising campaigns, BagButton has established itself as one of the most recognizable storage products, and consumer loyal brands worldwide.
