

Barger Corporation expands into South Korea

May 24, 2011

Seoul, Republic of Korea
(rushPRnews) 05/24/11 — Lee Myung-bak, President of the Republic of South Korea, is pleased to welcome the latest technological company to set up operations in his country. He noted the success of this firm in various countries of the world and their eagerness to utilize personnel from the Republic in all levels of the operation, including high level management.

He announced that Barger Corporation is constructing a facility in the Information and Communications cluster in the Gangnam district in Seoul.

Commenting on this new facility, Jonathon Benson, the Chief Operating Officer of Barger said that "we will be incorporating the latest technological innovations including, as just small examples, optical recognition and voice recognition for security, and iPad touch screens for field information gathering. We will also be using, in our transportation fleet, many South Korean experimental vehicles for field operations. "

Dr. Gerald (Gerry) Waterson, the founder and now Chairman of the Board, noted that "the desire to open offices in South Korea's was heavily influenced by the high labor productivity growth among OECD(Organization
