

Delray Beach Dermatology Practice Now Offering ULTHERAPY® Cosmetic Treatment

June 21, 2013

Delray Beach, FL ( RPRN) 06/21/13 —
Allenby Dermatology, a Delray Beach dermatology practice, is now offering the Ultherapy cosmetic treatment to patients.

Dr. Janet Allenby, founder of Allenby Dermatology in Delray Beach, Florida, is excited to now offer patients the option for the Ultherapy® procedure, a full face and neck cosmetic treatment that implements a non-invasive approach to raising and firming loose skin.

Ultherapy® is designed to fight the effects of gravity over time by raising, tightening and toning lax skin through promoting the development of collagen deep within the skin. The procedure does so by utilizing ultrasound imaging technology to fortify the skin's foundational tissue to generate collagen over time, resulting in the progressive firming and lifting of treated areas.

Ultherapy® is the only FDA-approved, nonsurgical approach to skin renewal that can effectively target the deep foundations of skin tissue that typically require surgery to treat. After just a single treatment, patients will see results gradually over the course of 2-3 months and are usually able to resume their daily routine immediately after treatment, avoiding the disruption of a long recovery period.

"In our office, the patient satisfaction with treatment has been excellent. Not only are our patients seeing their faces and necks lifted, but also the skin texture is smoother and more youthful looking. In the non FDA-approved body locations, we have seen improvement of jiggly arms and saggy knees," says Dr. Janet Allenby.

Those interested in learning more about the very latest in nonsurgical skin tightening are invited to a very exclusive Ultherapy® live demo event Wednesday, July 24, 2013. Attendees will watch as this cutting edge cosmetic treatment is performed live, and they'll also have the opportunity to enjoy special event pricing and hors d'oeuvres. Spacing is extremely limited, so please call the Allenby Dermatology office right away at 561-499-0299 to place your name on the list.

For further information or to schedule an appointment for the procedure, contact Allenby Dermatology at 561-499-0299 or email info@allenbyderm.com.
