HOUSTON, TEXAS

(rushPRnews) 06/16/13 —

There's no need to dump the stereo system or live without sufficient air conditioning. Houston residents seeking to cut utility bills and fatten their wallets can attain their financial goals with the expert help of HousePro Energy Solutions. The Houston, TX HVAC professionals perform complete home energy audits to identify what areas of the house are costing homeowners big.

According to Energy Star, inefficient houses lead to 80 percent of homeowners paying $1000 in unnecessary costs every year. Aiming to stop the wasteful madness, HousePro's BPA certified energy consultants closely examine every facet of the home to determine how the energy is escaping the structure.

Once the assessment is complete, the energy consultant evaluates the findings and recommends cost-effective resolutions, like an energy efficient AC system, insulation, lighting options or air duct sealing. HousePro even concludes what installations will provide the greatest return on investment and the estimated savings once the energy efficient renovation is performed. Every suggestion is fitted to the unique needs of the home and budget of the homeowner.

After determining the appropriate course of action, HousePro's highly skilled and experienced technicians install each addition following Energy Star's strict guidelines. Once the improvements are implemented, homeowners can see a 50 percent reduction in their energy bills. With HousePro, eliminating wasteful spending is simple!
