

London Calling season presents music specials and memorable performances by icons such as Amy Winehouse and John Lennon

June 6, 2012

London, United Kingdom
(rushPRnews) 06/06/12 — In addition to the spectacular events taking place in London this summer, BBC Worldwide Channel's unique London Calling season celebrates the legends of British music with in-depth documentaries, biographies, and footage from unforgettable concerts¹.

Examining the life and times of famous performers such as John Lennon, Amy Winehouse, the Rolling Stones, U2, and the Beatles, there are a wide range of BBC programmes lined up to satisfy all tastes. Lennon Naked is a biography that brings to life Lennon's transition from being part of one of the biggest bands of all time to becoming an individual icon in his own right. The film digs deeply into Lennon's past, even to his childhood and familial relationships, to create a comprehensive portrait of the man behind the legend. Sam Wollaston of The Guardian described Christopher Eccleston's (Doctor Who) portrayal of Lennon as "a brilliant performance, in a brilliant film, because what Eccleston does get spot-on is the spirit of Lennon, with all his complications, contradictions and demons."

In a tribute to the short life of the enormously talented singer, BBC Worldwide Channels will air Amy Winehouse: Live at Shepherd's Bush – one of her most haunting performances featuring brilliant renditions of hits “Back To Black”, “Love is a Losing Game”, and “You Know I’m No Good.”

Not to be outdone, the rock gods of London are put under the microscope in Rolling Stones – Truth & Lies, a documentary that discusses one of the most famous bands in the world. Interviews with fellow rockers, music critics, fans and other insightful parties delve into the rumours about lavish spending and excessive party exploits. This informative programme also thoroughly examines their music, the hysteria surrounding their performances, and the death of Brian Jones.

Depending on the region, London Calling will also offer several specials about the Beatles, along with a historical look at Irish rock group U2. To find out about these programmes as well as other London-themed shows like Twenty Twelve and Sherlock series 1 and 2, please visit www.londoncallingbbc.com or your local BBC website.
