London (RPRN) 03/23/13 — As the Sleep Council promotes National Bed Month, More Than Mobility, highlight the benefits of electric adjustable beds.

More Than Mobility, a leading UK supplier of mobility products and disability aids, is promoting the benefits of its electric adjustable beds, as the UK celebrates National Bed Month; an awareness campaign dedicated to championing a good night's sleep.

National Bed Month has run for more than two decades. The campaign promotes good sleep, and the role that a good bed plays in achieving it. Electric adjustable beds are specifically designed for people who struggle to get comfortable in bed; and also have difficulty getting in and out of it. But that's not all, because adjustable beds are perfect for reading and watching television in bed, or simply reclining into the perfect position for blissful relaxation. They create an environment which is tailor-made to your comfort and enjoyment, which makes a good night's sleep much more possible.

Sufferers of various mobility issues such as Asthma, Emphysema, Bronchitis, Arthritis, Rheumatism, MS, Back Pain and circulation problems will benefit from a bed which adjusts to their specific needs. Finding the ideal sleeping position is just one of the issues that a person might have. Getting in and out of bed can be just as problematic as people get older.

Some of the beds available even feature 5-point massage systems built in, which can ease any stiffness or pains and help to cultivate a more relaxed and peaceful sleep state.

At the More Than Mobility online store, customers can find a huge array of adjustable beds for every need. The range includes single, double, kingsize and superking sized beds, to ensure that everybody finds the bed they need within this unbeatable selection. A range of designs and styles are available so that customers can choose a model which fits seamlessly into the décor of their bedroom.

Pay a visit to the More Than Mobility online store today, to explore the retailer's entire adjustable beds range, and find the perfect model to help you to a better night's sleep, during national bed month and beyond.
