January 5, 2012

San Francisco, Calif. (RPRN) 01/05/12 — RushPR News -Press Release distribution made easy.

Broadcast to social media outlets and news outlets at the click of a button

RushPR News, a social network press release distribution service created to better meet the needs of small and mid-sized agencies is proud to announce that it has launched today a distribution package to reach social media networks.

Be featured on:

Google+Page, Facebook, Twitter, Digg, Google Bookmarks, Jumptags, Mister Wong,

Loving Social Media Networking

Mixx, Multiply, Propeller, Reddit, Spurl, Yahoo Bookmarks, Bebo, Plurk, Blinklist, Delicious, MySpace, Stumbleupon, Tumblr.

How does it work?

This press release distribution packages are customized to better serve small and mid-sized companies and public relations agencies looking to brand efficiently without emptying their pockets.

Once you have signed-in your account, you create your press release in your dashboard, upload your images and your YouTube video, then select a distribution package. The Broadcast to Online Newsroom and the Social Media package are selected as default. The cost $80. You can combine the Social Media package to any other distribution service, such as broadcast to U.S. dailies, or Canada, African-American, hispanic markets. Your pick, your target.

The perfect complementary package to another distribution package of ours. Buzz and be buzzed about on all major social media networks.

RushPRNews, is an emerging newswire in the field of press release broadcasting and social network communications and was developed after it became evident to Anne Howard, CEO of RushPRNews Inc, that "affordable publishing in the age of new media, and social media activities had become too much of a burden for agencies, who can't afford the high-end solutions presently offered in the market." Anne said "we wanted to simplify the process of distribution to social networks such as Facebook, Twitter, Google+ and others, and of measuring the results of the campaign with a basic keywords analysis tool, all of this without breaking the bank."
