(rushPRnews) 03/05/13 —

Leading online paid survey provider, SurveyCompare, are currently looking for new members to join their team of panelists in providing valuable market research data for Canada's service providers, manufacturers and industry decision makers.

Responding to the global need for the opinions and impressions of the regular consumer and the man and woman in the street, SurveyCompare Canada seeks to link members of their dedicated survey taking community with some of the country's most respected market research firms who represent leading Canadian businesses and organizations. The data collected provides a valuable contribution in shaping the future products and services which we will all be using in the weeks and months to come.

The role offers an excellent opportunity for students, active seniors, full time stay at home parents and job seekers to supplement their household income at a time convenient to them. Survey participation invitations are emailed directly to the member's inbox and they can complete as many, or as few, as they wish. Registration is simple and totally free of charge - unlike many of their competitors, SurveyCompare asks for no cash fee to join their community. On the successful completion of each survey, the participant will be rewarded with either a cash payment of up to 5 Canadian dollars, gift certificates for well known High Street or online stores, free products or entries to high cash prize draws.

SurveyCompare prides itself on being 100% trustworthy and providing legitimate survey opportunities from high quality market research providers. Their web site displays the details of their North London Head Office in the UK and an office hours telephone number for those requiring more immediate contact. Cash payments are made through online banking system, PayPal, allowing panelists access to free electronic banking and the safe transfer of funds.

In addition to providing paid survey opportunities, SurveyCompare have their own blog which features posts and articles covering a wide range of home working related topics to provide their members and site visitors with access to invaluable advice and useful tips on how to start utilizing available resources to deliver an extra source of income. Blogs featured for this month include Money Saving Tips for March, Jobs and Tips for Stay at Home Moms and Creating a Long Term Savings Plan while Freelancing.

The income earning potential application under discussion for March 2013 is Mystery Shopping. Guest writers have contributed a range of articles on the subject, examining different aspects of the job. These include; How to become a Mystery Shopper in Canada and Secret Shopper Jobs and Work Opportunities.

It is thanks to this wide ranging approach that SurveyCompare has become such a well respected, globally recognised provider of home working opportunities. Unlike most sites who limit their services to delivering only paid surveys and 'get rich quick' schemes, the diverse range of jobs highlighted by the SurveyCompare team offer panel members and site users the ability to access legitimate earning opportunities with excellent potential.

Despite the fact that we started the new year on an optimistic note with Canadian unemployment rates at a four year low, many of the country's leading economists have predicted that the worst is yet to come and that we will, at some point in 2013, slip back into recession. With most families uneasy about the economic challenges still ahead, the opportunity offered by SurveysurCompare to supplement the household income offers welcome respite.
